

POLLINATORS & POETRY FAQ

Where is the workshop located?

Pollinators and Poetry will take place at Confluence Park, located at 310 W Mitchell St, San Antonio, TX 78204. The workshop will take place at the Estela Avery Education Center/Multipurpose Room.

What is the length and duration of this workshop?

Workshop days are September 4, 11, & 18, 2021. Sessions run from 1:30–4:30PM. Participants are expected to arrive on-time to enjoy the full extent of workshop activities.

Does my child have to attend all three sessions?

Yes. Because the writing in this workshop will be printed as broadsides, it is required participants attend all three sessions.

Who is this workshop for?

This workshop is for students in grades 6th-8th.

What will students learn?

Students will explore the role of pollination in the river's ecosystem through the creation of original stories/poems and visual art pieces. On the last class day, families will be invited to listen to participants share their work, which will be printed as broadsides and displayed at the Pollinator Festival at Confluence Park on October 16, 2021.

Who teaches this workshop?

San Antonio Poet Laureate Andrea 'Vocab' Sanderson and visual artist and writer Aminah Decé will lead all sessions.

What will be provided?

Snacks, water bottles, journals, pens, and pencils will be provided to children, although participants are welcome to bring their own. Masks are required to be worn indoors.

Will my child keep their work?

Absolutely!
